

IMPORTANCE OF CYBER SECURITY

And ways to stay safe during times of crisis.

Now that we are returning to the office and life is going back to a new normal it is important to stay hypervigilant in regards to cybersecurity. During times of distress, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, the activities of criminals aim to capitalize on our fear of the unknown during uncertain times. These scammers use different techniques to try and obtain your information by targeting your identity and even your financial accounts and services using current headlines to pull you in.

To better arm you against these attempts and stop fraudsters dead in their tracks here's a list of tips for you to think about next time you receive an unknown text, email, or phone call.

- Monitor your cards and purchases regularly for any unknown charges. Scammers are on you not taking the time to look at the details so they can get away with their scam and ultimately your money or information.
- Examine emails closely before clicking any links. Check for misspellings, strange capitalizations, different ends to a website (ex: amazon.net instead of amazon.com), bad grammar, etc.
- Scammers are now texting! If you weren't expecting a link via text don't click on it. Instead go to your web browser and pull it up yourself if the link seems safe.
- Make sure your devices (yes, even your phone) and software applications are always updated. That quick 5-minute restart could save you grief in the long run.
